A Culinary Gem in the Heart of Maui

Nestled amidst the lush landscapes of Maui's charming upcountry, the Hali'imaile General Store is more than just a restaurant – it's a culinary sanctuary that embodies the true spirit of aloha. Originally established in 1856 as a trading post, this historic landmark has transformed into a beloved dining destination, serving up delectable family style meals that celebrate the flavors and traditions of the Hawaiian Islands.

The Essence of Ohana

At the heart of the Hali'imaile General Store experience is the concept of ohana, or extended family. Their family style meals are designed to foster a sense of community and togetherness, bringing people together to share in the joy of dining. As you gather around the communal tables, you'll be treated to a symphony of flavors, aromas, and laughter, creating memories that will last a lifetime.

A Symphony of Hawaiian Delights

The culinary team at the Hali'imaile General Store takes immense pride in crafting menus that showcase the best of Hawaiian cuisine, using fresh, locally sourced ingredients to create dishes that are both authentic and innovative. From the moment you set foot inside the restaurant, you'll be greeted by the tantalizing scents of kalua pig, pipikaula, and laulau, beckoning you to indulge in a culinary journey like no other.

Kalua Pig: A Hawaiian Feast

Kalua pig, a staple of Hawaiian cuisine, is lovingly prepared in an imu, or traditional underground oven, for over 12 hours, resulting in tender, juicy meat infused with the smoky flavors of kiawe wood. Served with Hawaiian salt and cabbage, this dish embodies the essence of a Hawaiian feast.

Pipikaula: A Savory Treat

Pipikaula, cured beef brisket, is a local delicacy that's expertly prepared at the Hali'imaile General Store. Dry-rubbed with a blend of spices, the beef is smoked and roasted until it achieves a perfect combination of savory and sweet flavors.

Laulau: A Taste of Tradition

Laulau, a traditional Hawaiian dish, consists of pork or chicken wrapped in taro leaves and steamed until tender. The fragrant leaves impart a subtle herbal flavor to the meat, creating a complex and satisfying dish.

Sweet Endings: The Taste of Aloha

No Hawaiian meal is complete without a sweet ending, and at the Hali'imaile General Store, dessert is more than just a treat – it's a culinary masterpiece. From classic Hawaiian favorites like haupia pie to contemporary creations that incorporate local fruits and flavors, each dessert is a testament to the pastry chef's artistry.

Haupia Pie: A Hawaiian Classic

Haupia pie, a beloved Hawaiian dessert, features a creamy haupia filling made from coconut milk, sugar, and cornstarch, nestled in a flaky crust. Its smooth, velvety texture and sweet coconut flavor are sure to delight your taste buds.

Seasonal Fruit Sorbet: A Refreshing Interlude

To complement the tropical flavors of the Hawaiian cuisine, the Hali'imaile General Store offers a refreshing selection of seasonal fruit sorbets. These light, icy treats are made with fresh, ripe fruits, providing a palate-cleansing interlude between courses.
